Claim Number _____

Dear Mr. Tran:

As the A____s' are a member family of the Texas Home School Coalition Association, I can assure you that K____ K____ is a full-time student who is receiving thirty-five hours of instruction per week and is in full compliance with the laws of the state of Texas regarding academic subjects, including a study of good citizenship and attendance. K____'s coursework currently includes the following subjects: government; economics; English, history, advanced mathematics, and advanced physics.

According to 20 CFR §404.367, a full-time elementary or secondary school student is defined as meeting the following conditions:

“(a) You attend a school which provides elementary or secondary education as determined under the law of the State or other jurisdiction in which it is located. Participation in the following programs also meets the requirements of this paragraph:

“(1) You are instructed in elementary or secondary education at home in accordance with a home school law of the State or other jurisdiction in which you reside; or

“(2) You are in an independent study elementary or secondary education program in accordance with the law of the State or other jurisdiction in which you reside which is administered by the local school or school district/jurisdiction.

“(b) You are in full-time attendance in a day or evening noncorrespondence course of at least 13 weeks duration and you are carrying a subject load which is considered full-time for day students under the institution's standards and practices. If you are in a home schooling program as described in paragraph (a)(1) of this section, you must be carrying a subject load which is considered full-time for day students under standards and practices set by the State or other jurisdiction in which you reside

“(c) To be considered in full-time attendance, your scheduled attendance must be at the rate of at least 20 hours per week unless one of the exceptions in paragraphs (c) (1) and (2) of this section applies. If you are in an independent study program as described in paragraph (a)(2) of this section, your number of hours spent in school attendance are determined by combining the number of hours of attendance at a school facility with the agreed upon number of hours spent in independent study. You may still be considered in full-time attendance if your scheduled rate of attendance is below 20 hours per week if we find that:

“(1) The school attended does not schedule at least 20 hours per week and going to that particular school is your only reasonable alternative; or

“(2) Your medical condition prevents you from having scheduled attendance of at least 20 hours per week. To prove that your medical condition prevents you from scheduling 20 hours per week, we may request that you provide appropriate medical evidence or a statement from the school.

“(d) You are not being paid while attending the school by an employer who has requested or required that you attend the school;

“(e) You are in grade 12 or below; and

“(f) You are not subject to the provisions in §404.468 for nonpayment of benefits to certain prisoners and certain other inmates of publicly funded institutions.

“[48 FR 21928, May 16, 1983, as amended at 48 FR 55452, Dec. 13, 1983; 56 FR 35999, July 30, 1991; 61 FR 38363, July 24, 1996]”

K___ meets the criteria detailed above in every respect for a full-time home school student under Texas law. K___ has enclosed a Student’s Statement Regarding School Attendance, and Mrs. A___, as the administrator of her school and K___’s primary teacher, has provided a Certification by School Official. Should you have any questions regarding these facts, I would be happy to visit with you personally.

Sincerely,

Tim Lambert
